TEACHERS COLLEGE CLOSES.

DIPLOMAS AWARDED BY DR. VAN AM-RINGE, AND THE GRADUATES AD-DRESSED BY DR. HYDE, OF BOWDOIN.

The eleventh annual commencement of Teachers College, and the first under the direct management of Columbia University, was held yesterday morn-One-hundred-and-twentieth-st, and Amsterdam-ave. For the procession to the rooms the faculty assembled in the trustees' room and the graduates in one of the kindergarten rooms. The procession began at 19:30 o'clock and was led by the students marshal, the president of the junior class. The rest of the procession was as follows: Candidates for departmental diplomas; candidates for diplomas in elementary teaching, kindergarten, manual training and science; candidates for general diplomas in secondary teaching; candidates for higher diplomas; faculty marshal, Dr. Paul Monroe; faculty members; the Rev. Dr. John Balcom Shaw; Prestdent William De Witt Hyde of Bowdoin College; James E. Russell, dean of Teachers College; Spener Trask, president of the trustees; the trustees, and the acting president of Columbia, Dr. J. H. Van Amringe.

The exercises began with a prayer by Dr. Shaw, which was followed by music by an orchestra. A hymn was then sung, after which President Hyde of Bowdoin delivered the address to the graduates, "The Teacher's Opportunity."

Dean Russell then made announcement that there had been two thousand students in the college in 1889, against eight hundred in 1898. He said the last payment of $10,000 had been made, and that the college had been freed of its mortgaged indebtedness. He mentioned the bequest of Joslah the college to erect a new building in the Boulevard. Through the liberality of James H. Jones the lots had been purchased at a low figure, and $25,000 had already been pledged for the building.

The dean also announced that nearly every room in the college had received additions through bequests. The Avery room had received gifts of books and pictures, the library had received additional photographs from Mrs. Bryson, Miss F. Mead presented one thousand lantern sildes, and the Hoadly Graduate Scholarship had been founded by Mrs. C. C. Munroe. Miss Susan De Forest Day had also paid an annual endowment to the Manual Training Fellowship. The year had added to the providential fund $50,000, and the bequests and special gifts had made up $425,000.

Dean Russell also announced that a class for the training of nurses would be started in the fall.

Acting-President Van Amringe then awarded diplomas to the following graduates: in the college had received additions through be

LONDON ACTORS EXPRESS SYMPATHY-CHARLES FROHMAN AND GEORGE EDWARDES PAY TRIBUTES TO DEAD MANAGER

Paris, June 8.-The body of Augustin Daly, who died suddenly yesterday afternoon at the Hotel Continental here, will be embalmed today, will be taken to Havre on Friday morning and thence shipped to New-York by way of Southampton. London, June 8 .- The flags on Daly's Theatre were at halfmast to-day on account of Mr. Daly's death, and among the large colony of American actors and actresses here his death is the subject of great regret. Charles Frohman said: "I regard Sir Henry Irving and Mr. Daly as having done more for the elevation of the stage in their respective countries than any managers of the time, and America's loss in this respect is irreparable."

Mr. Daly left London on Saturday, having, apparently, fully regained his health. He insisted on a short stay in Paris, though some of his friends feared that he was over-ambitious. He expressed the fullest confidence in the success of his suit against George Edwardes (growing out of a dispute as to the division of the profits of Daly's Theatre, London, of which Edwardes is the owner and Daly the lessee), which was to be called on June 20, when Mr. Daly expected to regain control of the theatre. The Hon. Mrs. Eric Barrington, a great friend of the late Mr. Daly and Ada Rehan, went to Paris to-day with some friends in order to console Mrs. Daly in her bereavement.

George Edwardes expressed keen regret at the news of Mr. Daly's death. He said:

"No one will lament his death more sincerely than myself. Mr. Daly and I were really always the best of friends. I can't say what effect his death will have upon the lawsuit. I only know that recently Mr. Daly said that had he been on the spot when the dispute arose, and if he had only me to deal with, all the trouble would have been avoided, and so, no doubt, it would.

"Mr. Daiy was a great theatrical manager, and did a great deal for the profession, while the public is indebted to him for bringing many fine companies to London.

"I can only repeat that Mr. Daly's death is a great shock to me."

No less than four messages were received here yesterday from Europe by Mr. Daly's most inti-mate associates. Two of them were letters written by Mr. Daly himself, and two were dispatches. Ex-Judge Daly, the brother of the manager, received a letter from him, dated in London, on May 30, in which he said that his health was better. He spoke of walking and driving, and the letter. ex-Judge Daly said, had a most hopeful and encouraging tone. Richard Dorney, the manager of Daly's Theatre, also received a letter from Mr. matters, and he would not say what it contained.

Mr. Dorney also had a dispatch which was not eigned, but was presumably from John Farrington, who has been the manager of Daly's Theatre in London ever since it was opened. It was from Paris, and simply said: "At Mrs. Daly's request, have telegraphed to the Judge fully. Is it not dreadful?" The dispatch referred to in this was doubtless one which ex-Judge Daly received from Mr. Farrington, in which he said that he was now in Paris, and should be there till this morning. that Mrs. Daly would sail on the steamer New-York from Southampton on Saturday, bringing the body of Mr. Daly with her. It was under-Europe, and ex-Judge Daly said that nothing could be told about the funeral arrangements here till Mrs. Daly arrived.

A meeting of the trustees of the Actors' Fund of America was called yesterday afternoon to take action in regard to the death of Mr. Daly. He had been elected a trustee of the Actors' Fund at the annual meeting on the day before he died. Many yesterday, but ten were present at the meeting. Fund: Harrison Grey Fiske, Antonio Pastor, members of the senior class.

The degree of Master of Laws was conferred Milton Nobles, Andrew A. McCormick, Harry Harwood and F. F. Mackay. The meeting adopted the Charles H. Hoyt, De Wolf Hopper, Frank G. Cotter, following:

America, in special meeting assembled this 8th day of June, 1889:

That we have learned with profound regret of the sudden death of Augustin Daly, and we dealer to give public expression, as representatives of the Actors' Fund Association, to the sense of the great loss that has been sustained by dramatic art in America through the untimely removal of one who has served its best interests faithfully and courageously during so many years.

Resolved, That in the death of Mr. Daly the American theatre has lost a manager of high ideals and brilliant attainments, whose forceful personality and expert skill have left an indelible impress upon the annals of our stage; a dramatic author of note, and a stage director who had few peers among his contemporaries.

Resolved, That we tender to the family of Mr. Daly our sincere and heartfelt sympathy in their hour of bereavement.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this Board, and that a copy, sultably engrossed, be sent to Mrs. Daly

A meeting will be held at the Catholic Club this evenfing to take suitable action in regard to the evening to take suitable action in regard to the of condolence from personal friends of himself and his brother. Mr. Dorney also had many from Mr. Daly's theatrical and business associates. Mrs. Ettle Henderson, the manager of the Jersey City Academy of Music, said: "No words can express the sorrow for this great loss." Harry J. Powers, the manager of Powers's Theatre-formerly Hool-ey's-in Chicago, telegraphed: "Have just heard of Mr. Daly's death. Words fall to express the heartfelt grief. I feel Mr. Daly's death is the greatest loss the American stage has ever sustained. Please convey to Mrs. Daly my sincere future of Daly's Theatre, which, whether they prove to be correct in the end or not, appear to have little foundation at present. One who was thoroughly intimate with Mr. Daly's affairs said yesterday: 'There is absolutely nothing with regard to the future that can be said with authority at the present time, which was not said in The Tribune this morning. The account given there was complete in every detail and accurate. Anything more is mere surveyed.

at the present time, which was not said in the Tribune this morning. The account given there was complete in every detail and accurate. Anything more is mere surmses."

The general belief seems to be that the theatre will be managed by Mr. Dorney, who has been with Mr. Daly for many years, and that the plans which Mr. Daly made for next season, which were practically complete, will be carried out. Mr. Dorney admitted yesterday that this was likely to happen, but he would not say that it was certain. George Clarke, the actor, who has been longest with Mr. Daly's company, and is now one of the stage managers of the theatre, said: "Mr. Daly's great work for the stage can be carried on from where he left it. He meant to be progressive and to give always on his stage the best of the sort of dramatic production which the time demanded. He was the leader in the classical drams, and his production of The Great Ruby' showed that he was now about to lead in another direction. He had already made arrangements with the management of the Drury Lane Theatre which showed that his was his intention, at the same time that he did not mean to forsake or neglect the classical drams. He had the whole of next season mapped out, and I believe that it will be carried out exactly as he designed it. I also think that the company can be carried on after that in the manner in which he wished that it should be."

A solemn requiem high mass will be celebrated at St. Patrick's Cathedral, at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning, for the repose of the Soul of Augustin Daly. Archbishop Corrigan will be present. The Rev. M. J. Lavelle, the rector of the cathedral, will be celebrated at St. Patrick's Cathedral, at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning, for the repose of the Soul of Augustin Daly. Archbishop Corrigan will be present. The Rev. M. J. Lavelle, the rector of the cathedral.

B. Daly as sub-deacon.

The police have failed to get any trace of some house of Colonel Lawrence Kip, at No. 462 Fifth-ave., about a month ago. Colonel Kip has travelled a good deal, and in a cabinet in his parior were kept many articles which he had collected on his travels, and which were prized above their real value on account of associations. The cabinet was broken open one night, and about thirty articles, worth several thousand dollars, were stolen. It looked as if a burgiar had got in through a rear window, but the thief evidently knew what to carry away and what to leave. The most costly relics in Colonel Kip's collection had been taken away.

A D. C. L. FOR AN AMERICAN.

London, June 8.-At Oxford to-day the honorary degree of Doctor of Civil Law was conferred upon Professor Newcombe, of Johns Hopkins University.

"PROTESTING AGAINST SLURS."

To the Editor of The Tribune Sir: The Tribune of Saturday, May 27, published, under the above title, a letter from a correspondent, complaining of an injustice, which was purely and entirely fanciful. The article to which the correspondent objects was written in a vein of derision, and its clear and obvious purpose was ridicule. It did not contain any attack upon the respectable Hebrew inhabitants of New-York, and neither did it assail or dis-parage, directly or indirectly, the Hebrew race, the Hebrew character, or the Hebrew religion. No purpose of reproach against any of those things was in my mind when I wrote the article, and no such purpose made its appearance in my language. particular phrase that seems to have given offence (or, more probably, has been made the pretext for a personal attack, the origin, motive, and tendency of which will. I fancy, disclose themselves later), was an allusion to "a child of nature and of Israel." That phrase is, simply and merely, a designation. It was used in a satirical description of an absurd object, and it is easily and properly within the limit of legitimate satire. The au on the occasion named, was largely, and mani-festly, composed of the lower order of Jews. Had it been largely, and manifestly, composed (for example) of the lower order of Irishmen, the phrase, probably, would have been "a child of nature and of Erin"; and I should have been amazed if any Irish gentleman had interpreted the phrase as con-veying a disparagement of his generous nation or an affront to himself.

A person, however, who wishes to find a griev ance can always and readily succeed in his quest. Benvollo, of the hazel eyes, quarrelled with a stranger for cracking nuts. It is no fault of a writer that a dull mind has read into his words a meaning such as they never were intended to impart. "Sir," said Dr. Johnson, "It is my business to furnish argument-not to provide you with brains"; and, again to quote the same wise author, The sense of ridicule is given us, and may be law-It is among my deepest convictions that all the nations of the world constitute one family, and that nothing is so important for the general welfare as a sedulous cultivation of the sentiment that binds those nations into harmonious brotherhood. I should be about the last person on earth to write, or to approve, a gratuitous and causeless attack upon any section of the human The offence that has been extracted, in this exempt from satire than the Gentile, and if the anguage of well-deserved frony must be pared and carved and regulated so as to placate every thin-skinned reader in the community, the satirist of social defects may as well throw away the dictionary and take to peddling milk. BISHOP CHOSEN BY LOT.

MENNONITE METHOD OF ASCERTAINING WHAT THEY CALL GOD'S CHOICE.

Lancaster, Penn., June 8 (Special).—A great crowd packed the old Mennonite meeting house at Millersville to-day to witness the choice of a Bishop by lot. A minister of the denomination is frequently selected in this way, but it is not often that a Bighop is chosen, and therefore the interest was from all over Eastern Pennsylvania, and the seleccandidates. It was impossible for any one to win on account of favoritism, and a fairer choice could candidates. It was impossible for any one to win on account of favoritism, and a fairer choice could not be devised. There were fervent prayers that God should direct them in the right choice, and finally the four candidates were called forward.

Four Bibles, exactly similar in size and binding, were then produced. Under the flyleaf of one a piece of blank paper had been placed. The Bibles had been thoroughly mixed up, and the candidates were invited to each take one. The one containing the piece of blank paper, indicating God's choice, fell to the lot of the Rev. Abram Herr, of New-Danville, and he was declared the new Bishop. He was immediately ordained, the sermon being preached by the Rev Jacob Brubaker, of Mount Joy. There was great rejoicing among the new Bishop's friends. He asked for the support in his new office of their prayers, and more practical ways North and South, had a gun of some kind con-

PROTEST OVER A FELLOWSHIP.

CHANCELLOR DAY OF SYRACUSE UNIVERSITY CHARGED WITH SHOWING FAVORITISM.

Syracuse, N. Y., June & (Special) .- University circles are discussing to-night the charge of favoritism made against Chancellor Day in relation to the award of the Gee 1500 fellowship. Quite a sensation has been caused, and a protest has been filed asking for a reconsideration of the decision. The fellowship was awarded to Charles Bertram

Walker, of Richfield Springs, who, it is alleged, was the third in standing in his class in art. Miss Mattle P. Goodrich was at the head of her class for four years, and her friends declare that if the same rules of award were followed this year as in the past she would have had it.

THE PRESIDENT'S NEW-ENGLAND TRIP. Washington, June 8.-The itinerary of the President's New-England trip is almost completed. He will leave here on Friday, June 15, for Holyoke, Mass., where he will be the guest on Saturday and Sunday of William Whiting, who served with him in Congress. On Monday the President will go to Northampton to attend Ivy Day exercises at Smith College, and on Tuesday to South Hadley to attend inary. His niece will be one of the graduates. On Wednesday he will go to Springfield, and on Thursday to Adams, Mass., where he will be the guest of W. B. Plunkett, president of the Home Market Club of Boston. The President will be gone about ten days. Mrs. McKinley will accompany him.

OUR NEW POSSESSIONS. From The Brooklyn Eagle.

From The Brooklyn Eagle.

The June issue of The Tribune Library Extras, under the title of "Our New Possessions, and the Diplomatic Processes by Which They Were Obtained," with maps and portraits, is an invitation to the public to inform itself thoroughly in regard to the events of the last two years. All the necessary and important facts and statistics have been carefully compacted for this number. The historical and commercial aspects of the questions connected with Cuba, Porto Rico, the Philippines, the Hawaitan Islands and Wake Island are exploited intelligently. The story of the peace making, the treaty of peace and elucidations thereof in speeches by prominent men are part of the presentation. The whole is capped with a useful index.

Jefferson M. Levy, the lawyer and Congressman-Putzel made on him at a meeting of the Board of Public Improvements, when Mr. Putzel charged that Mr. Levy was using his political position to open One-hundred-and-sixty-fifth-st., in order to make corner lots out of some of his property.

Mr. Levy said yesterday: "There is no basis of truth for this attack. I am exceedingly indignant at Putzel for this unwarranted slander."

Mr. Levy then called up Mr. Putzel on the tele-Mr. Levy then called up Mr. Putter on the telephone, while a Tribune called up Mr. Putter on the telephone, while a Tribune reporter waited.

"Hello, Putzel!" he cried. "I am Jefferson M. Levy. You made a most outrageous attack on me. I do not use my political influence for my private profit, and you know it, too. I always work for the interests of the public. If you do not retract your statement I shall sue you for $250,000."

Then Mr. Levy hung up the receiver, rang off, and felt a sense of relief.

Tribune Office, June 9, 1 a. m.—The weather yesterday was fair and hot. The temperature ranged between 65 am 92 degrees, rising steadily until late in the afternoon, when it slowly felt to 80 degrees at midnight. The average (So), degrees) was 3 degrees lower than on Wednesday and 12% degrees higher than on the corresponding day of instruction.

The weather to-day will be fair and cooler by night.

THE PASSING THRONG.

"The Standard Oil Company is buying at fancy prices all the naphtha being made by the indesaid F. G. King, of Warren. INDEPEND- Penn., at the Hotel Imperial yesterday. Mr. King is interested in the refining business himself, and with ENT RE-PROSPEROUS others rejoices over the prosperity of the independent refiners of the Keystone State. "Warren," said he, "is something of a centre for the independent oil refiners of Northwestern Pennsylvania. They are all making Northwestern Pennsylvania. They are all making money at the present time, and one of the principal reasons is the fancy prices being paid for naphtha, which is the volatile product which comes first in the refining of crude petroleum. Naphtha is used in the manufacture of benzine and other products, and is coming largely into use in the making of gas. The Standard is not squeezing the independent refiners. In fact, the Standard rarely strikes the first blow. It is all-powerful, and can apply the pressure whenever it wants to. It is a case of cat and rat. The cat may not fahry the taste of the rodent, and leave it alone, but when so minded can squelch the rat with one paw. I don't know what the Standard people want with so much naphtha, but I surmise they are getting ready to make some big move in gas, and I wouldn't be surprised to hear of a giant gas combination any day."

Carl Bailey Hurst, United States Consul-General at Vienna, is home on a vacation, after an absence fectly delighted to get back to my native land again," said he, "and I expect that September 1, by which time I must return to VI enna, will come all too soon. There have been wonderful changes in New-York since I I was here the last time. The pavements are better and the streets are cleaner. The Vienness are pleasant people, fond of music and art, and particularly proud of their capital city, which they are trying to make the most beautiful in the world. In addition to the usual city officers, there is an Art Committee, which passes upon all plans for new buildings. Ugly structures will not be permitted upon any plea whatsoever. Even those for mechanical purposes must conform to the accepted idea of beauty for that class of building. The law permits but five stories in height, but a liberal interpretation puts in a first floor called a parterre, and one or two mezzanine floors, bringing some buildings in reality to eight stories. These are not common, however. The society in Vienna is very charming, but, being a little out of the usual American line of travel, one does not see as many American line of travel, one does not see as many americans as in other European cities. There is a small American colony, principally art of medical students, or musicians who are pupils of Leschetizky. This pianist does not accept all comers, though he hears them, and then, according to their merits, places them with one or another of his teachers, until the aspirant is ready to play in the master's style, and is prepared for the finish which he imparts." Mr. Hurst is a son of Bishop Hurst, of the Methodist Church.

"You think it's hot here, but you ought to live in Yucatan, Mex., for a while, and then this would seem to be just the right kind of weather." The speaker was Dr. Mortimer B. Tappan, of Merida, Yucatan, who for nearly fifty years has been the leading physician of that Mexican State. Dr. Tappan is in New-York to see his sister, Mrs. Zelia R. Smith, of York to see his sister, Mrs. Zelia R. Smith, of No. 389 Gates-ave, Brooklyn. Dr. Tappan is a son of the Rev. William Bingham Tappan, the Congregationalist minister who wrote the hymn beginning "There is an hour of peaceful rest."

"I've been in Yucatan nearly half a century, said Dr. Tappan, "being led there by reading Dr. Cabot's book on that country. It is a very hot country, and, compared with New-York, has few advantages. But it's home to me, and I'm going back there in a day or two on a Ward Line boat. Our people in Yucatan are largely interested in the raising of hemp. There is plantation after plantation of it, and the quality is the best in the world. Of course, the country produces all sorts of tropical fruits in abundance, but hemp is the best thing, after all. There is no need of growing anything else. There's money enough in hemp.

Indian Commissioner Jones about the needs of the Carlisle School. WORK OF "The North American Indian is all SCHOOL right if you give him a show, but corner and held against the wall," said Major Pratt. "In Southern Pennsylvania the Indian boys

Pratt. "In Southern Pennsylvania the Indian boys and girls of our school are considered the best farm help obtainable. Six hundred of our pupils have just gone out to the farms in Bucks County, and there is a demand for twice as many more. It is all nonsense to say that the Indian will not work. He'll work if he's paid for it. The money they earn during vacation is their own, of course. We have nine hundred, all told—five hundred boys and four hundred girls. One of our Indian girls is principal of a school up in Connecticut, with two or three assistants and with three hundred pupils to take care of. Half a dozen of our girls are successfully preparing to be trained nurses. Fifteen of our boys are to do all the waiting at a Point Pleasant (N. J.) hotel this summer, where the head waiter is a full-blooded Indian."

"Have the boys any inventive faculty?"

"Hardly any," said Major Pratt, "but that isn't to be wondered at. Necessity is the mother of invention, and the Indian until recently had always been taught that he didn't need civilization to be happy. Five of our boys have recently enlisted in the Regular Army, and two have gone to Parto Rico, two to Cubs and one to Manila. Depend on it," said Major Pratt, "the Indian is all right if you give him a show."

FAMILIAR PREPARATION UNDER A TRADE NAME.

TRADE NAME.

The thousands who are familiar with Dr. Dadirrian's fermented milk preparation, "Matzoon," will be pleased to know that a new protective trade name—"Zoolak"—has been chosen for this remedy in order that it may be readily recognized from the hundreds of imitations that are being foisted upon the public by unscrupulous parties. "Zoolak" is identical with "Matzoon." the famous fermented milk preparation, originated and introduced by Dr. Dadirrian fifteen years ago. "Zoolak" as "Matzoon." has received the endorsement of the highest medical authorities, as being especially beneficial to a weak stormed-paintable, refreshing and easily assimilated when no other food would be retained. In ordering Dr. Dadirrian's fermented milk food be sure to ask for "Zoolak."

Rich food causes discomfort and dyspepsia. John son's Digestive Tablets core promptly.
